Forecast for Saturday 04 May 2024

Weather: Chilly start with some patches of low cloud, mainly across eastern areas. Any mist and fog dissipating quickly as the sun rises leaving a fine day with plenty of bright and dry weather and some warm sunshine this afternoon alongside light winds. A very low risk of the odd shower in the afternoon. Dry and becoming clear this evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 80% becoming 100%.

Low cloud and visibility: Occasional low cloud and hill possible across eastern areas to start above 400m, this quickly lifting and breaking this morning. Then cloud remains above hill tops through the day. Early valley mist and fog patches, and any hill fog, bringing locally poor or very poor visibility, will dissipate quickly this morning. Then very good to excellent visibility across scenic outlooks.

Meteorologist's View

Pathways may still be damp as a result of wet weather in the week. Otherwise plenty of fine weather with good visibilities will allow for excellent scenic views. Warmer than of late this afternoon with moderate UV levels, therefore appropriate hiking gear and equipment is advised such as water, sun cream and sunglasses etc.
